GETTING READY FOR THE BIG ELECTION

Republican Rallies Throughout the County Are Being Well Attended—Meetings Are Held At Canonsburg And McDonald Last Night

SCHEDULE FOR TONIGHT

At Meetings Phases of Campaign Are Discussed By the Speakers—Owing to Unusual Interest In Many Functions, There Will Be No Rallies Here

Owing to the various functions in the borough this week the original intention of the local Republican leaders to hold one or more political rallies was abandoned. However, increasing interest is being shown in the Republican rallies that are being held nightly in the county under the auspices of the speakers' committee of the Republican County committee. Beginning with Monday evening, two and three meetings have been held in various sections of the county. The attendance has been good, and the speakers report much interest manifest at all the gatherings.

Last night meetings were held at Canonsburg and McDonald. At the first place, the rally was held in the High School auditorium and was attended by approximately 100 people. W. J. Reese, Republican state committeeman presided and the invocation was offered by the Rev. John Wolfe, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church. The speakers were D. Glenn Moore, candidate for the state legislature, Attorney Rufus S. Marriner, General Edward Martin, candidate for state auditor general, and Congressman Henry W. Temple.

Various phases of the campaign were discussed by the speakers Mr. Marriner dealt with the menace of the La Follette movement and Dr. Temple's record as a member of congress General Martin made an appeal for the support of the whole ticket and also discussed the LaFollette program briefly. Dr. Temple told of the work of congress in effecting great economies and tax reductions and also asked that the local ticket be supported, speaking especially of General Martin and Mr Moore The benediction was pronounced by Rev. Dr Williams, of the Colored Methodist church.

The meeting at McDonald, which was also well attended, was addressed by Judge Norman E. Clarke, of Washington and Attorneys J. A. Garrison and T. H. Shannon, of Waynesburg. William S. Lockhart, candidate for state legislature, also spoke briefly.

Wednesday night at Burgettstown, the speakers were Attorneys Rufus S. Marriner and Alexander M. Templeton, while Judge J. Boyd Crumrine, District Attorney H. W. Hughes and Attorney J. A. Garrison of Waynesburg, presented the issues to the voters at Fredericktown, the meeting being attended by people from many of the surrounding towns.

Congressman Henry W. Temple, Gen. Edward Martin and Mrs. Charlotte M. Hughes of Washington, and Attorneys T. H. Shannon and C. W Parkinson of Waynesburg, spoke at meetings at Mather and Nemacolin in Greene county, just over the border from Washington county. Both of these meetings were largely attended by both men and women and the speakers alternated between the two places.

Tonight meetings will be held at Bentleyville, Beallsville and Claysville. Saturday night the final meetings will be held at Wylandville and West Alexander.

HALLOWE'EN PARTY IS GREATLY ENJOYED AT CHURCH

One of the many social events in session last night was the very successful Halloween party of the Monongahela district of the Washington County Christian Endeavor Union, held in the basement room of the Slovak Bethlehem Congregational church, Crest avenue and Tenth street with over 200 present representing the entire district. Due to the temporary lack of power caused by the burning out of a transformer in that district make-shift lights were used for a time, but through a special effort and courtesy of West Penn employees light was replenished in a short time.

The following churches and towns were represented last night: Presbyterian, Methodist, Christian St. Mary's Episcopal. Russian Orthadox and United Brethren, Ellsworth, Donora, Charleroi, Finleyville, California, Coal Center, North Charleroi, Millsboro, Belle Vernon, Roscoe and Vestaburg.

The place of entertainment was prettily decorated to conform with the season and with a varied and large program of games the evening was greatly enjoyed by all. District social chairman and chairlady, Harry Reifer of Donora and Miss Prim of California, did exceptionally well in leading the games and singing. Dr. Paul Trnavsky, president of the union, proved himself an able assistant.

A very good luncheon was served by the committee in charge. In closing a number of hymns were sung. The decorating was in charge of representatives of the Presbyterian churches and the Congregational while the entertainment was in charge of the Donora society, in addition to the leaders.

THINK!

A SOUND BASIS IN FACT

Democrats indignantly repudiate the charge by Republican Chairman Butler that they are working with the La Follette leaders to throw the election into the House. But that charge has a sound basis in fact, nevertheless. It is notorious that in those states of the Northwest where the La Follette forces are particularly strong, the Democrats are making no special effort to win. Why should they? No intelligent observer of political conditions concedes any chance whatever to Mr. Davis or Senator La Follette to win the election by popular vote. Inquiry from any angle points to a majority for President Coolidge approximately equaling that for Mr. Harding in 1920. The only chance for either of the President's opponents is to cut his majority to a plurality, thus eliminating Mr. Coolidge from the race, and then fight it out between themselves in the House It may be that Mr. Davis would have the better of the argument in that event. But of one thing you may be sure, a bargain would be struck whereby the radicals would be permitted to name either the President or the Vice President. Furthermore, if Davis were sent to the White House, he would be under everlasting obligations to the radicals, both for throwing the election into the House and for helping elect him in the House balloting. It is a situation [illegible]

The only way to avoid the danger is to rally to the support of President Coolidge on election day and make his majority a certainty.

Four Are Held As Result Of Auto Fatality

Joseph J Halka, aged 27 of Fourteenth street, Donora, driver and owner of the Nash touring car, which struck and killed Jack Partezena, aged 40, of Red Lion, Star Junction last night at 8.05 o'clock in East ain street, Monongahela, is held at the Monongahela police station on a charge of suspicion and reckless driving. John Odelga, aged 22 John Pavelko and Peter Kopena, all of Donora, who were passengers in the car, are also being held as material witnesses and on a technical charge of suspicion, in connection with the accident. Odelga surrendered to the police with Halka a short time after the death of Partezana, but Pavelko and Kopena disappeared after the accident and returned to their homes at Donora. They were arrested by Donora police and taken to Monongahela to be held with the two other men pending the outcome of the coroner's inquest today at 10 o'clock.

Relatives are expected today to take the remains of Partezena to his late home at Red Lion.

ALL SET FOR A BIG NIGHT

"All is set" for a big night. The parade will form promptly at the Municipal building at 7:30 o'clock, and will march over the business section in the manner as set forth in the Mail of yesterday.

The judges for the costuming will be Burgess J. Bryant Tussing, Roland W. Brown, and John Jenkins. When the parade is disbanded, people will enjoy the street dancing, and also be afforded the opportunity of buying what they need at the seven booths installed at the station by the firemen. Music for the dancers will be furnished by the Sunset Seven orchestra.

MAN SUED FOR NON-SUPPORT

Peter Lazzari, a merchant of Monongahela, was yesterday after a hearing before Judge Erwin Cummins, directed to pay his wife, Mrs. Susan Lazzari, $35 a week for the support of herself and her five children. It appears from the evidence, that the wife, the former wife of Louis Lazzari, now deceased had considerable property from her first husband's estate but that it is now practically all in the control of Peter Lazzari, her present husband. As a result the wife finds, now that differences have developed between them, that she has no means of support other than that she can get from her husband, who, it is shown, now holds title to all that she ever had.

The present husband is young man 28 years of age, and his wife is about 20 years his senior. She has five children by her first husband and three by her second. The evidence shows, the court finds, that the present husband had no estate, when he married Mrs. Lazzari. After their marriage he purchased in Monongahela a business block for $23,000 on which there is a large mortgage, the purchase money being secured from the prosecutrix in the case heard yesterday. Though some negotiations between the defendant and his wife the legality of which the court stated it was not passing on at this time, he secured control of the estate of his wife.

Local Man And Daughter Have Narrow Escape

Michael Rosenbloom, proprietor of the Majestic theatre, and his daughter Jeannette, while returning home from Pittsburgh last evening at 10:30 o'clock, narrowly escaped serious injury and probable death, when a southbound freight train of the Pennsylvania railroad at West Elizabeth side-swiped their machine, a five passenger Studebaker coupe, which was stuck in a rut along the tracks, practically demolishing it The two occupants, who had time to leave the car when they saw the approach of the train, were uninjured.

With Miss Rosenbloom at the wheel, and driving over the deeply rutted detour along the tracks in West Elizabeth, the wheels got caught against the tracks and before they had sufficient time to extricate the machine a freight train came by and following the crash the car was dragged for about 25 yards.

Mr. Rosenbloom flagged the train, but it did not come to a stop until the damage was done. The engineer said that he saw the car, but thought it was further away from the tracks. Mr Rosenbloom and daughter, although somewhat unstrung, were none the worse for their experience.

Greensboro Gas Company Brings Suit Against Railways Company, Et Al

The Greensboro Gas company has brought a suit against the Pittsburgh Railways company, United Traction company, and West Side Electric Street Railway company, operating in the Charleroi section, in which unusual facts are involved. The proceeding grows out of damage to gas mains of the plaintiff by an electric chemical process called electrolysis This process eats up the gas mains and causes loss to the gas company

The defendant railways companies, which maintain high tension and trolley wires, carrying much electric current in Charleroi, North Charleroi, Speers and other points in this section, is charged with not properly insulating its electric system. The claim is that by reason of this improper insulation and protection of these electric lines much fluid escapes into the ground. This, it is averred, causes this electrical chemical action on the gas lines.

The company seeks to require the railways company to remedy the matters complained of.

The National Surety company of New York has filed a suit against Kirk A. McLain of Fredericktown, a former postmaster at that place, to recover $2,500, which the plaintiff company was required to pay as bondsman for the defendant as postmaster. It is set out that the defendant was convicted in Federal court of a shortage of funds as postmaster and that under this bond the plaintiff company was required to pay to the government the sum of $2,500.

Follansbee Brothers Co., Inc., of Follansbee, W. Va., has filed a suit against the Bessemer Brick company of Monongahela, in which there is claimed $529.95 alleged due as a balance on merchandise sold and delivered to the defendant company.

HUNTING SEASON OPENS NOVEMBER 6

Harrisburg, October 31.—Governor Pinchot issued a proclamation today postponing the opening of the hunting season until November 6, because of the danger of forest fires in the state unless rain falls before that date.

It is the first time such a step has been taken, and was the result of an Act passed in 1915 for the preservation of the forests.

Special orders were issued to get forest rangers and other state agents to assist in enforcing the proclamation.

The hunting season will thus be shortened by six days in view of the law, Saturday, November 15, as the [illegible] has the authority to curtail, but no power to extend hunting, it was explained.

The board of health of New York ruled gasoline treated with the lead as a public menace and similar action was taken in New Jersey.

The Standard Oil Company admitted the danger [illegible] that it collected a previous toll of death and insanity before the 42 employes were exposed to it at the Bayway, N. J., plant, which resulted in the five deaths.

The plant remained closed as investigation of the tragedy continued today under the direction of Prosecutor A J David of Union county, New Jersey.

Charleroi Has Prospects of Becoming City of Third-Class As Result of Conference of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce

COMMITTEE TO LOOK INTO

Directors Also Discussed Highways, And the Adjustment of the Right-of-Way Question With the Pittsburgh Railways Company At Roscoe Station

John D. Berryman, president of the local branch of the American Red Cross appeared before the directorate of the Chamber of Commerce at their meeting held in the secretary's room in the Municipal building last night, presenting the claims of the local Branch in the annual Red Cross Roll call, which will take place probably next month, the date of which will be announced through the columns of the Mail. A resolution was passed by the directorate endorsing the work of the local Chapter, and pledging their individual and collective support and to ask the citizenry as a whole to contribute to the worthy object.

There was considerable discussion of the feasibility of a possible change from the present borough form of government to that of a city of the third-class, such as Monessen and Monongahela. This matter was presented and explained at some length at the last annual banquet of the Chamber of Commerce, held at the Elks club, by Editor Claude E. Towner of the Monongahela Republican. At the session of the directorate, a motion was made and prevailed authorizing the president of the Chamber of Commerce to appoint a committee of five representative gentlemen of the borough to make a thorough investigation of the cities where the plan is in force and effect, and collect such needed data to the end that the proposition can be acted upon intelligently. The president of the Chamber of Commerce, B. B. Fox, will announce the personnel of this committee in due time.

The directorate also discussed highway matters. It was reported that the only thing in the way of the completion of plans for the finishing of the Stockdale-Coal Center highway, is the adjustment of the right-of-way question with Pittsburgh Railways Company at the Roscoe station. The chairman of the Roscoe committee of the Chamber of Commerce and Secretary James T. Heffran of the local Chamber, will make investigation and confer with the officials of the Pittsburgh Railways Company and seek to effect a satisfactory adjustment

EDUCATION WEEK OBSERVANCE URGED

Superintendent of the Canonsburg schools, F. W. McVay, secretary of the Washington County Education association, has issued the following statement relative to observance of Education week, November 17-23:

[illegible] County Education association, I have been asked to request that every school in the county observe Education Week, November 17-23, 1924.

This week last year was very successful. Great interest was taken in it all over the United States. It was then, as it is now, sponsored by the American Legion, as one of the important features in their Americanization work. Probably no education feature was ever inaugurated in our country that met with such universal favor and was so largely used in its first year. This year should see it universally observed in every American school, public or private, from kindergarten through the university.

Let the week be observed by all [illegible] Special programs should be arranged for the day's sessions in school and also for special night meetings. Mass meetings and educational rallies may be arranged. Local persons in every school district should speak to the children in school on educational subjects. School drills in gymnasium, vocal music, and orchestra numbers could be arranged in many [illegible] also parades.

Brunswicks Will Clash With The Monessen Peerless Tomorrow At The Charleroi Base Ball Park

The game tomorrow, between Brunswick A. C.'s and Monessen Peerless, at the Charleroi Ball Park, will start at 3 o'clock. Interest in the game has advanced by leaps and bounds, and one of the biggest crowds that ever turned out is expected. It is the only Independent game in the Monongahela Valley tomorrow and fans have not been able to see the Brunswicks in action have an opportunity tomorrow.

The Brunswicks are winding up their preparation for the game, and the team should be in tip-top form when they take the field. Coach O'Brien has been lenient with the men in drills this week, the cripples have rounded into form, and it is likely that he will be able to send his strongest outfit against the Peerless. Captain Besencamp will command a band of fighting demons on Saturday, and their very armor may be considerable toward carrying them creditably through a tough assignment. All the cripples with the exception of Esposito have returned to form, and even he may get into the game. The team has been equipped with more plays to be used against the Peerless than were displayed against the Mohawks, and the team has been drilled over and over again this week in their execution. The Peerless team is made up of Monessen Ex-High school stars, such men as Parnella, Kent, Schrading and Sichi. These men will give the fans a lot of thrills, and this means the Brunswicks will have to play with their heads up.

DELANEY TOO MUCH FOR MULHOLLAND

Jack Delaney of Bridgeport won by a technical knockout over George Mulholland, of Brooklyn, after two minutes and 50 seconds of the eighth round at the Rink Sporting Club, New York last night.

Mulholland was no match for Delaney, who toyed with George through eight rounds of the one sided contest. Mulholland was dropped in the first round for a count of nine and it was apparent that he would not last. In the eighth round a left to the stomach doubled George up and the referees stopped the contest.

O'CONNELL CUT BY UMP'S JIBE AT BALL PARK

Rebuffed at San Francisco ball fields, sensitive to every public criticism and hoping against hope for a reinstatement in organized baseball which may permit him to redeem his reputation and begin the reconstruction of what was once a most promising career, Jimmy O'Connell, "goat" [illegible] and of the Phillies to "throw" a game to the McGrawmen in the late pennant race, wanders about the section of the country around San Francisco, keeping out of the public eye as much as possible and—waiting.

Waiting for the word he hopes may come from Commissioner K. M. Landis, overlord of the dominion of swat, a word that will lift his indefinite suspension, a parole in which he may make good.

But even in the event that Landis is merciful, the former Giant outfielder is hardly likely to appear in the lineup of the San Francisco club of the Pacific Coast league, for in the first place, O'Connell would still belong to the New York club, to which he was sold by the club last spring for $75,000 of Giant money and it would be up to the management of the Giants to say where he should go if any club wanted him.

Nautical Term

Plimsoll line is a name given to the marking on the hull of a vessel showing how heavily a vessel may be loaded with safety. Many vessels having been lost through overloading, Samuel Plimsoll, a member of the British parliament, prepared a merchant shipping act, which became a law in 1876. The act has been amended since, but forms the basis for the load line marks of vessels.

Pumice Widespread

Pumice is volcanic scoria or lava, spongy or cellular from bubbles of steam or gas which it contained during liquidity; much used as a polishing material especially when powdered. In minute fragments it has been shown to have an exceedingly wide distribution over the earth's surface. It occurs in all deposits which cover the floor of the deepest portions of oceans.

Spreading Use of Coffee

The use of coffee in Abyssinia was recorded in the fifteenth century, and was then stated to have been practiced from time immemorial. In time the practice spread to Arabia. The plant began to be cultivated there, and the use of coffee as a national beverage became as inseparably connected with that country as tea is with China.

Kindness is not easy unless you have a gift that way. Distinct from good nature on the one hand, and from a sense of duty on the other, its modest name covers all the qualities we love best. Kindness is not a small department of the mind; it is the attitude of the whole character.

JOHNNY KING IS WINNER LAST NIGHT; MANSON LOSES

The biggest thing Johnny King, of Fayette City, proved last night in the Palisades Rink, McKeesport, was that Johnny Ward's day as a main bout attraction, even in his home town, has faded. King won the decision in ten uninteresting rounds, neither showing enough punching power to frighten a bantamweight. King, ordinarily aggressive and a punishing hitter, seemed to realize that he could gallop in, and made the fight that way. At no time was Ward dangerous enough to make it interesting for King, even though the latter seemed to be "under wraps." While both seemed to keep moving around and trying throughout there was never any time in which the spectators had a chance [illegible]

The honors of the night went to Andy Tomasky and Hughie Manson, of Homestead, who staged the only interesting bout of the show. These two kids fought from the first bell to the last in their six-round setto, Tomasky getting the decision, chiefly through a knockdown in the second round. It was the only good spot of the show, the semi-final, between Buck Weaver, of Cumberland, and Al Bratton, of East Pittsburgh, being stopped by the referee in the fourth round when Bratton struck Weaver while the latter was on the floor. Weaver looked as though he was hunting for a soft spot, having gone down several times under light punches. Bratton finally let one go just as Weaver was sinking down and was disqualified.

In the opening bout, Kid Herman, of New Kensington, and Pug Phillips, of Fayette City, was called a draw, after six rounds.

TO DETERMINE IF TAX PUBLICITY IS CONSTITUTIONAL

Washington, Oct. 31.—The tax publicity provision of the new revenue law will be attacked as unconstitutional in a suit to be filed in the courts here, according to information reaching officials today.

A Boston attorney, representing private interests, is here, it is reported with a petition shortly to be submitted asking an injunction restraining Secretary of the Treasury Mellon and Internal Revenue Commissioner Blair from continuing to permit public inspection of tax records.

The suit would be based on the contention that the publicity provision violates individual rights guaranteed by the constitution, attacking the law from a different angle than the suit filed and rejected in Cleveland yesterday.

The Cleveland suit sought to prevent the internal revenue collector there from making returns public on the grounds that it was a "personal injury" to taxe payers.

The Boston attorney has not yet come into the open here with his plans, but both treasury and justice department officials said they had knowledge of the impending action.

Attorney General Stone will be called on to defend the treasury department if the suit is filed.

RUMORS OF TRADES BRANDED AS FALSE AT BUCCO OFFICES

Since the recent announcement that the Pirates had exhanged three stars to the Chicago Cubs the fans have been industriously swapping various players until those who regard Dame Rumor as a most truthful old girl are beginning to think the Buccaneers of 1925 will be made up almost entirely of new faces.

Big Jim Bottomley of the Cardinals is one of the latest athletes to be given a visionary ticket to Forbes Field. According to gossip Catcher Walter Schmidt and Players Hazen Cuyler and Eddie Moore will go to St. Louis in this swap, but the whole yarn was spoiled last night when Treasurer Sam Dreyfuss of the Pittsburgh club declared there is nothing to it.

Sam even went further and ruined several other good stories, by stating that the Pirates at the present time, has no trades on top. Of course this is not taken to mean that nothing is likely to turn up in the way of negotiations, for it is a safe bet that if any attractive offers cross the path [illegible] management, the party presenting the proposition will not be talking into deaf ears.

PRIME MINISTER AND COLLEAGUES ARE NONPLUSED

London, Oct. 31.—Prime Minister MacDonald and his colleagues of the Labor government postponed today until next Tuesday the decision they must make—whether to resign at once in view of the Conservative triumph or to face a hostile Parliament and to be beaten on the first test vote.

With the Conservative press clamoring today for immediate resignation, MacDonald was up early and out for a stroll in St. James Park before breakfast. He summoned his cabinet to No. 10 Downing street at 10 30 a. m.

The cabinet adjourned at noon, to meet again Tuesday.

Whatever the Labor government's decision, the prospects are that Great Britain will have a Conservative regime for four solid years.

With returns from 600 of the 615 parliamentary constituencies tabulated, the standing was:

Conservatives, 398.
Labor, 154.
Liberals, 40.
Independents, 4.
Constitutionalists, 3.
Communists, 1.

These figures represent a net gain of 150 seats for the Conservatives, three for the Constitutionalists, and one for the Communists. Labor's net loss was 42 seats, the Liberals 110, and the Independents, two.

Stanley Baldwin, if he becomes premier, will have a clear majority in the next Parliament of 202, for the Constitutionalists were elected with Conservative support and will vote with Baldwin.

FREDERICKTOWN TO CELEBRATE TONIGHT

Under the auspices of the firemen of the town, Fredericktown will celebrate Halloween tonight. The celebration will include a parade, a street dance, with good music, and a carnival.

It will be the ninth annual observance of Halloween in Fredericktown. More than $200 has been expended for prizes, which will be given to the wearers of the best and funniest costumes in the parade.

A first class orchestra will play for the dancing, which will take place at the conclusion of the parade and the awarding of the prizes.

SHOWING OF WALKER WITH MALONE PROVES MIDDLEWEIGHT CLASS

Any middleweight who fancies Mickey Walker an interloper among his fellows has another guess coming. Walker proved in his fight with Jock Malone in Newark last night that he is fully capable of mingling with the middies. He swammed all over Malone, an exceedingly fast man, and beat him in the majority of the rounds.

This was a remarkable performance as Malone has been rated one of the speediest and cleverest middleweights. Not a great hitter and lacking a knockout punch, he has always been placed right up with the top-notchers in that division.

Walker can invade the division and can command respect, too, if he should elect to go after the 160-pounders. It must be remembered that he weighed 147 pounds last night, 12 pounds below the middleweight limit. That's not a great weight handicap should he try to beard Harry Greb or any other man in the class.

Rowing Oldest Sport Event in the World

The annual sculling race for Doggett's Coat and Badge is the oldest authentic sporting event in the world. The classic test of rowing ability had its 208th revival recently on the Thames in England over a four-mile three-furlong course. It was first rowed August 1, 1716, and was instituted by Thomas Doggett, an Irishman, who celebrated the accession of George I to the throne by staging a sculling race among the fishmongers of the Thames. When he died he provided $1,750 in his will, in trust with the Fishmongers' association, to perpetuate the race. Six oarsmen usually compete and in addition to a much coveted coat and badge, the winner receives $50 and the others smaller amounts as they finish.

Savings Deposits

There are many people who delay the opening of a Savings Account because they feel that a small deposit will not be welcome and that it is better to wait until they have accumulated a considerable sum. Too often they keep on waiting.

The First National Bank wants you to know that we welcome Savings deposits in any amount from $1.00 upwards and that the size of the account does not matter so much. The REGULARITY with which you save means more to us—and to you—than the amount deposited.

OUR POST WAR FOREIGN RELATIONS.

The Democratic Party was in charge of American affairs for over two years following the end of the World War. In spite of its much vaunted concern for Europe, it succeeded in doing practically nothing to aid the Old World in its rehabilitation. Instead, its leaders expended their energies in trying to put the United States under the domination of European diplomats, thus paving the way for putting this country on the same economic plane as overseas nations. The plan failed, and when the Republicans took control of the Government in March, 1921, they found American independence unimpaired but the nations of Europe still groping for a way out of their difficulties. A loan to Germany at that time would have been unthinkable, and France had to pay a higher rate for her own borrowings than Germany is paying now.

Contrast that condition with the prospects in Europe today after three years of Republican rule in America. Early in that period the Washington Armaments Conference as called that removed hundreds of millions from the annual tax burden of the world, and materially reduced the danger of another war. A few months later Secretary Hughes delivered his memorable address at New Haven in which he suggested the appointment of an international commission to consider the reparations problem that was at the root of European difficulties. His suggestion was eventually adopted, and the Dawes commission was the result.

It was due to the ability and courage of the Republican candidate for Vice President that the Dawes plan was finally prepared and presented as the report of the commission. But the crucial moment came when representatives of the countries involved met in London to determine whether they would accept the Dawes plan, and, if so, the means for giving it practical application. President Coolidge directed our Ambassador to Great Britain to attend the meetings and render any proper aid he could. Secretaries Hughes and Mellon also found it convenient to be in Europe during those weeks. Making it plain that they were not traveling in an official capacity, they visited the European capitals and through their personal influence greatly facilitated the progress of the Dawes plan. Rare tact was displayed by Ambassador Kellogg, who on more than one occasion saved the London meeting from collapse and aided the delegates finally to reach a complete agreement.

The Dawes plan is now in effect, with an American, a former assistant to Secretary Mellon, holding the key position in the reparations organization. Such has been the magic effect of the new order that, where Germany could not borrow a dollar at any price three years ago, she has just been offered a billion by American investors when request was made for only a tenth of that sum. Germany can now get down to work without outside interference. She has a definite schedule of obligations, with permission to retain the surplus after they have been paid. Under the Dawes plan chaos has yielded to order, not only in Germany but throughout Europe, war threats are silenced, and the future is bright with peace and confidence.

All this has been achieved by Republicans with no sacrifice to a league or any other foreign agency. Our people have only to contrast what has been done for Europe under that independent policy with the wholly negative result obtained by the Democrats while they were trying to subject the United States to the league. Then let our voters remember that Candidate Davis is blind to the benefits of the Coolidge foreign policy and urges reversion to Wilsonism and league membership.

Too Much of a Good Thing.

"It is six years since I had my first stomach trouble. It rapidly grew worse. My food would not digest and I was reduced to skin and bone. My doctor put me on a starvation diet, and when my pains grew worse I concluded it was too much of a good thing. On the advice of my druggist I tried Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, and am now entirely well." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. At all druggists.

What would you do if I turned you down? she said shyly, as they sat on the parlor sofa.

But the collector was ready for him. "You're not a turnip—you're a beat," was his reply.

A few tested rules for fishing that may be helpful. Try them:

1. Feed worms dynamite. Feed worms to fish. Throw rocks at fish. Good results.

2. Dash madly up to stream shouting, "I am Bryan and drunk as my [illegible] ancestor." Pick up stunned fish.

3. Dig ditch, running stream through swamp. Fish catch rheumatism in swamp. Haul away in trucks.

4. Dive down to bottom. Tell bedtime story. Fish go to sleep. Grab fish without waking.

5. Tie mirror on line. Fish see how they look and laugh themselves to death. Gather in baskets.

She's Perfect Woman, Physically Speaking, Avers Film Director

The perfect woman—physically speaking—has been found, in so far as Hobart Henley, motion picture producer, is concerned. He says she is Marine Knight, one-time artist's model. He sought a perfect woman—physically speaking again—for a part in a photoplay and found Marine. Despite her name, she has never been a bathing beauty.

Good Stories Golfers Tell of Royal Game

In 1921 on the course at Kirkfield, Ontario, P. McGregor and H. Dowie were all-square going to the home hole in the final, and when they reached the green McGregor needed to sink a long putt to win the match. He played the ball cleverly, but it rolled around the lip of the hole. It seemed to have stopped, when a large grasshopper landed squarely on the core and caused it to drop into the hole and decide the match in favor of McGregor.

Crows and sea-gulls frequently carry off golf balls, sometimes dropping the ball actually on the green, a stroke of fortune for the player, and it is quite a common incident a cow swallowing a golf ball.

A golfer at Newark in May, 1907, drove the ball into the river. The ball struck a trout two pounds in weight and killed it.

The Montreal yarn about the squirrel that stole and hid sixty-odd golf balls against a hard Canadian winter is more than matched by a report from E. R. Dickover, American consul at Kobe, Japan. In commenting on the increasing popularity of gold in Japan, Consul Dickover tells solemnly of the crows that infest the links of the Miko club and make away with the balls, even those sticking to the fairways.—Golfers Magazine.

For

Goitre Prevention

IT is a question for mothers to decide right now whether they will continue to use ordinary salt and run the chance of the children becoming afflicted with Goiter—or MULKEY'S IODINE SALT which is a goiter preventive recommended by health authorities throughout the country. In some places more than half the school children, especially girls, have goiter. That is because they do not get enough iodine in their food.

MULKEY'S is the original iodine salt distributed through the grocery trade. Ask for it by name.

Alsace-Lorraine Stubbornly Opposes Any Changes.

Washington, D. C.—Reports of dissatisfaction in parts of Alsace over the suggested operation of French laws relating to churches, do not raise pro-German or pro French questions but rather emphasize the outstanding spirit of independence that is possessed by both Alsatians and Lorrainers, according to a bulletin from the Washington headquarters of the National Geographic society.

"Living in a border land, the people of Alsace and Lorraine have developed an independent spirit not unlike that of the Swiss," says the bulletin. "They are admittedly a mixture of both Gallic and Alemannic stocks. Studies of head measurements have shown this. But their languages set them apart almost like separate little nations. The speech of the great majority of Alsatians is a German dialect, but it is almost as meaningless to the ears of a Berliner as is French. In Lorraine a French patois is widely spoken, but it is an alien tongue to the Parisian.

Wanted Own Tongue.

"The independence of the people has showed itself in regard to the language question under both French and German regimes. Before 1871 some more or less desultory efforts at the compulsory teaching of French in the schools of Alsace were combated as were the intensive efforts to force the use of modern German after that date.

"So, too, the Alsatian has evidenced his independence by insisting on retaining his own religion, whatever the attitude of his sovereign country of the moment. When France held Alsace and Lorraine before 1871, priests and pastors opposed the teaching of French because of opposition to the French literature of the day. In 1872 the religious leaders found themselves in opposition to the German government over the suppression of religious schools; and today the same people insist to the French just as vigorously on retention of their religious privileges.

"The geographical position of Alsace and Lorraine has largely determined their development and that of their people. They have been cross roads as well as border countries since Roman days. The Rhine, great traffic artery of Europe farther north has always been a barrier where it skirts Alsace. Until recent years even part-year navigation was impossible along this stretch of the river. South of Strasburg the Rhine had a labyrinth of courses, sprawling over a wide valley, and creating in flood time a broad region of morasses.

"The low, unhealthy, useless valley of the Rhine along Alsace's eastern border, together with the barren nature of the bench land inland from the river, condemned this eastern strip of Alsace to almost complete desertion. Even today this Rhineward plain is sparsely settled. The thriving cities of Alsace are situated in a zone from ten to twelve miles inland from the Rhine in the parallel valley of the Ill or slightly westward along the Vosges foothills. Even Strasburg is not a true Rhine city. It was built on the Ill where the latter flows two or three miles west of the Rhine, but in recent years the city has grown eastward until it touches the larger stream.

"At Strasburg highways converge from across the Vosges hills, geographical factors which helped to foreordain the growth of an important city at this Rhine crossing. Strasburg's name itself tells the story, for it means 'City of Roads.'

Mineral Wealth Important.

"In addition to the plain along the Rhine Alsace includes the eastern slope of the Vosges. Along the foothills grapes grow to perfection and the region is one of the important wine-producing countries of Europe.

"Lorraine differs from Alsace both in environment and type of population. In fact there is little to group these two areas for political administration save that together they almost completely fill the gap between Germany and France. Lorraine is a plateau, cooler than the lower Alsatian plain and given over, so far as its agriculture is concerned, largely to pastures and cattle raising. The people, not so isolated from France as the Alsatians, have somewhat closer affiliations with Latin culture.

"Industry has claimed considerable areas of both Alsace and Lorraine from their old paths of agriculture. Textile factories are concentrated chiefly in southern Alsace and in some of the Vosges valleys. The predominant industry in Lorraine is metallurgy. Near the Luxemburg frontier are coal deposits and beds of iron ore, the latter the largest in Europe. The coal is in the famous Saar basin. All about this region are concentrated populations of miners and metal workers. Alsace has no iron or coal, but near Mulhausen it possesses potash deposits exceeded in value only by those of northern Germany. These two deposits constitute practically the world supply of this indispensable fertilizer ingredient."

Finds Coin Dated 1207

Montgomery City, Mo. — Warren Rigg of Americus, while working on the highway between Americus and Big Spring, found a foreign coin dated 1207. Rigg has written to coin experts about it, believing it is of great value.

A Common Desire.

It is reported that the Prince of Wales would marry a Canadian or an American girl if he could have his way, but why make a fuss about that? Plenty of older men than the prince have a similar inclination.

New York Court Puts Curb on Mother-in-Law

White Plains, N. Y.—Supreme Court Justice A. H. F. Seeger here signed an order restraining Mrs. Ida K. Greenwood of Mount Vernon from interfering with her son-in-law, Ferdinand Hoffman, in his attempts to see his three children and also restraining her from crossing the street in front of her home in Mount Vernon to the homes of Hoffman's sisters and from talking to them or to neighbors of either regarding the marital affairs of the Hoffmans.

Hoffman in his complaint petition said that his mother-in-law did everything she could to keep the children from his sight. "She is spluttering her mother-in-law spite in Mount Vernon," he said. Hoffman and his wife were recently estranged, but have not been legally separated. Mrs. Hoffman lives with her mother and the three Hoffman children, John, fourteen; Edward, eight, and Anna, six years old. Hoffman recently applied for a writ of habeas corpus to permit him to get the custody of the children, and Justice Seeger's order made provision for the father to see his children on certain days of the week.

to the week by appropriate announcement as well as speaking on educational subjects from their pulpits. Without the influence of the church the schools of the country could never be maintained equally true is it that without the schools the church could never succeed.

Let every parent in Washington county visit his child in school during the week. Let every child and every teacher make the parent welcome. Let the boards and walls be covered with good work of the pupils' drawings and written work.

Horace Mann's words, "Education is the chief defense of Nations," might be made even stronger. Education is the only hope of the nations. Of course, education must include all of its three branches—soul, body, mind.

We hope that the public press of the county will give this article and any other educational articles publicity and call attention by news items as well as editorially to this week.

With press, pulpit, school and home behind this week, we can make it the biggest educational event in the county's history. Let us do it. Remember the week, November 17-23, closing with Educational Sunday, November 22.

Now let every teacher of our 1,400 in the county get busy and lead the 60,000 school children in this big educational rally.
